

The Helen & James Faulks St. Martin's College Scholarships

Introduction

Mrs Helen Faulks was, up until her death in 2000, a long-term benefactor of St Martin's College. Her substantial donations over the years helped to finance the building of Cottage 371, which was named "Huddersfield House", after her family property in the Riverina.

In her will, Mrs Faulks made provision in the following terms "I give the Board of St. Martin's College Incorporated situated in the grounds of Charles Sturt University in the sum of (money) to be invested and for the income to be used to provide rental assistance for a student (or students) in necessitous circumstances and who is a resident of St Martin's College Incorporated, as far as is practical, use the money from this bequest to provide residential assistance for country students of the Anglican faith."

In 2012 her husband Mr James Faulks, in his will, made similar provision for scholarship funds for students of St Martin's College.

The generosity of both Helen and James Faulks enables the college to offer scholarships annually to students using the following guidelines.

Guidelines

1. Students must be current residents of St Martin's College.
2. Applicants must be able to demonstrate financial hardship.
3. Two scholarships of $2,000 will be awarded in 2018
4. The scholarship is only available for the payment of accommodation fees to St Martin's College.
5. If not awarded in any year, the amount set aside for the scholarship will be returned to the principal to be reinvested.
6. Should the scholarship panel identify more than 2 suitable recipients part scholarships may be awarded.
7. Students who are not Anglican are also invited to apply.
